Personal Profile:

Chris has been working in digital technology and communications for over 20 years, and now specialises primarily in smart cities and the digital development of places.

He is a co-founder and director of Sheffield Digital, the association for the city's digital industry and the people who work in it. He also runs his own digital strategy development consultancy, Unfolding, and consults on smart societies for Perform Green.

Chris has also been involved in instigating a number of technology-oriented networks and event series in Sheffield, including SmartSheffield, the Sheffield Things Network, the Sheffield Digital Communicators Network, the Sheffield Digital Coalition and TEDxSheffield.

He is a graduate of the Universities of Brighton and of Sheffield, and is a fellow of the Royal Society of Arts.

Chris has been involved with the UTC in Sheffield for over 5 years and is now a Trustee of the MAT Board with an interest in both local UTCs.
